Winter Reading Program Winners!

Hundreds of books were read in our winter reading program: Read Outside the Box! Many patrons reported discovering new authors and interesting titles they would not have read if not for the program.

The winners of the three “mystery” boxes are Zsuzsanna Snow, Wendy Wade and Julie Cook. The theme of the mystery boxes were: chocolate (1), soup (2), and romance (3). Congratulations to them and to all our reading participants! We are looking forward to our summer program with the theme: Literary Elements! Look for this program to start in late June!

WML Displays

Check out the Irish display in the front lobby lent to the Library by the Harrington family. Displayed are a Shillelagh (walking stick), Irish currency (used before the euro), a Claddagh ring, an original Irish road sign and much more!

Each month kids from WSS in Grades 1-6 are offered the opportunity to participate in a Lego Club after school. This past month they designed unique Lego creations that can be seen in the display case just outside the Children’s Room. Check out the butter generator, aircraft carrier, sun shader and more!

The story of how Walt Disney courted P.L. Travers into letting him option the rights to Mary Poppins is brought to the screen in this non-fiction drama starring Tom Hanks, Emma Thompson, and Colin Farrell. A loving father, Walt Disney (Hanks) promises his adoring daughters that he will bring their favorite fictional nanny Mary Poppins to the big screen. Little does Walt realize that surly author P.L. Travers has no intention of seeing her most famous creation bastardized on the big screen, a fact that makes keeping his promise a difficult endeavor. Years later, however, when Travers' book sales begin to slow, dwindling finances drive her to schedule a meeting with Disney to discuss the film rights to the beloved story. For two weeks in 1961, a determined Disney does his absolute best to convince Travers that the film version of Mary Poppins will be a wondrous and respectful adaptation, meanwhile the author only grows more convinced that she has made the right move in preventing the proposed film adaptation. Later, just when it begins to appear that the rights to Mary Poppins have slipped through his fingers, the ingenious Disney reflects back on his childhood, and realizes that a sensitive chapter from Travers' youth could be the key to clinching the deal.

Flight Behavior by Barbara Kingsolver
Flight Behavior transfixes from its opening scene, when a young woman's narrow experience of life is thrown wide open with the force of a raging fire. In the lyrical language of her native Appalachia, Barbara Kingsolver bares the rich, tarnished humanity of her novel's inhabitants and unearths the modern complexities of rural existence. Characters and reader alike are quickly carried beyond familiar territory here, into the unsettled ground of science, faith, and everyday truces between reason and conviction. Flight Behavior takes on one of the most contentious subjects of our time: climate change. With a deft and versatile empathy Kingsolver dissects the motives that drive denial and belief in a precarious world.

Sense and Sensibility by Jane Austen
Austen's first published work, Sense and Sensibility, is set in southwest England and portrays the life and loves of the Dashwood sisters, Elinor and Marianne. The novel follows the young ladies to their new home, a meager cottage on a distant relative's property, where they experience love, romance and heartbreak.
Austen pairs sense and sensibility thematically, allowing the reader to determine if they can ever truly be united.
